BRIDGED GAP EXISTING FOR OVERCENTURY

President Wilson Tears Down
Barrier Between Executive and Legislative Branches

GRATIFIED TO FIND
PRESIDENTS ARE MEN

Declares He Is Not Mere Department, But an Actual Human Being

Washington, April 8.—President Woodrow Wilson today bridged the gap that for over a century has separated the pines of public business, the executive and legislative branches of the government of the United States. Not as a cog in a machine, but as an individual political entity, not as a mere department of government, but as the human president, he went to congress to speak about the tariff. Standing before the senate and house of representatives in joint session, as no other president had done for more than a hundred and twelve years, President Wilson stated simply and earnestly what he thought should be done for the welfare of the country and asked his legislative colleagues, man to man, to aid in keeping the pledges of their party.

He Reassured Himself.

With a sense of decision that shattered precedent, the president brushed aside all imaginary boundaries between congress and the executive of the nation, and rested himself as he expressed it, from that "isolated island of incalculable authority" which the presidency had come to be regarded. Congress had prepared for a ceremony of unusual importance, and such it was, yet, when President Wilson arrived in the midst of the great assemblage, riding through throngs of cheering people in the streets, and later looking up into galleries crowded with privileged ticket holders, he seemed after all, what he said he was, "a human being trying to cooperate with other human beings in a common service."

When the much heralded incident was over, congress seemed pleased and the president was delighted. He expressed himself to friends as surprised with the dignity of the occasion and some of his confidants later said that he left the capital greatly relieved, to think that, after all, his president smothering had not been such a setback to an older head as had predicted.

Was Was Brief.

The president's visit to the capital was brief, lasting about a quarter of an hour. No one except a secret service man accompanied him. He rode in a White House automobile and was driven through the crowds assembled about the house wing of the capitol. At 12:24 he reached Speaker Clark's room, just off the house chamber, where a joint committee of senators and representatives welcomed him. At two minutes before one o'clock the president entered the chamber. Members of the house and senate rose as speaker Clark brought down the gavel.

From the floor and galleries distinguished guests looked on at the scene. Ambassadors from many lands were in the audience, members of the cabinet were there and all the people who possibly could get in were present to witness the proceedings.

President a Person.

The president, escorted by Senator Bacon, bowed acknowledgment to the applause and mounted the Speaker's stand to the journal clerks desk, directly in front of the speaker. With a smile, as he began to speak, the president told his hearers why he had come. He said he was glad to verify for himself the impression that the president of the United States was a person. He was speaking in an ordinary tone of voice, just as though he were talking to a senator in his office. The crowded chamber was hushed at the momentary thrills of conversation upon his entrance had ebbed away. Every eye was fixed upon him as he spoke, and it was instantly apparent that he had aroused the keenest interest.

As the president proceeded with his preliminary statement, averring that government, but human, and that he had come to speak naturally with his fellowmen, the interest was true. Both Houses Applauded.

After this pleasant experience, the president declared, "I shall feel quite normal in all our dealings with one another."

At these words, the house and senate applauded. Then the gallery joined in. Mrs. Wilson, the president's

ALBANIAN LAKE SCENE

THE NEW KINGDOM OF ALBANIA—Recently organized by the great Powers in the Balkans. The picture shows some of the country and its people. The Duke of Montenegro, a descendant of the Louis of France, has been declared King. But the Montenegrins have practically ignored Scutari, its capital from the Turks, and want to annex it to Montenegro. The great power's ambassadors commenced "conversations" about the matter in London yesterday. The King of Montenegro is reported to have said that he would reign in Scutari or die in its capture.

brotherhood called for a few moments with the members of the committee and accompanied by Secretary Tamm, left the capital at 1:19 o'clock. At 1:19, half an hour after he had left the cabinet meeting, he was at luncheon in the White House, preparing for the business of the afternoon.

KING NICHOLAS TO ABDICATE

If Powers Use Force He Will Step Down From Throne.

London, April 8.—King Nicholas of Montenegro definitely has arranged plans to abdicate his throne if force is employed by the European powers against the little kingdom. This announcement was made in official Montenegro circles here today.

The arrangements for this action were made by King Nicholas in consultation with King Peter of Serbia. The agreement provides that King Nicholas shall abdicate and with his family, quit his country. Montenegro then will effect a union with Serbia while King Nicholas and his family will be given an appropriate provision from the civil list.

Second Floor of Stable Collapsed Over Farmer

Remarkable Escape From Death of Peter Janvin and Four Other Men Employees of Imperial Livery Stable—Team of Horses
Crushed Beneath But Were Not Out Alive.

Several persons had a remarkable escape from death yesterday, owing to the collapse of the second floor in the Imperial livery stables, Fifth street. Peter Janvin, a farmer residing at North Edmonton, was unloading oats in the barn, and four men were employed on the upper floor hauling up the grain from the wagon, when without a moment's warning the floor gave way, crashing down on the top of the wagon and team. Janvin sprang out of the wagon at the first crack, and so escaped being struck by the floor. The team, however, was knocked to the floor and crushed beneath the weight of the fallen upper floor, on which were piled rigs and livery equipment of all descriptions.

The four men who were working on the upper floor, were precipitated by the fall of the floor to the floor beneath, falling in a heap, all mixed up with rigs and oats. It was miraculous that none of the men were hurt.

The unfortunate team suffered considerably. Crushed beneath the weight of the fallen beams they lay where they had been struck down, powerless to move despite their frantic struggles. A large number of men, employees of the barn and others got quickly to work to get the team out. After laboring for nearly half an hour under considerable danger from the possibility of a further fall of the roof, which was propped up at one end by a beam which had stood the strain, the men succeeded in getting the horses free.

Everybody expected that the animals would be seriously hurt and it was not expected the off horses, which bore the greater weight of the fallen debris, would be alive when extricated. Both horses were got out safely, badly bruised and bleeding, but without any limbs broken and apparently sound.

The owner of the barn J. E. Lambert, and A. Bourque was in charge. Mr. Bourque was seated in the office when the floor crashed down. The portion of the floor over the office remained intact. It is four years since the barn was built and it had been stabled by steel rods stretched from side to side to strengthen the upper floor, but notwithstanding this the upper floor was insufficiently staved.

JAPAN IS IRONICAL ON AMERICAN EQUALITY

Californians, declares the "Asahi" Propose to Treat Japanese Worse Than Negroes, and Warn Americans of Cool Reception if They Visit Nippon.

Tokio, April 8.—The hollowness of American advocacy of equality is the subject of an ironical editorial article in the Asahi, the leading independent newspaper of Japan, which says that Californians propose to treat their neighbors across the Pacific worse than negroes. The article continues: "This anti-Japanese agitation will impress us with a keen sense of humiliation, when will require many years to efface. Americans must be prepared for a cool reception when they visit or settle in Japan."

The Asahi says that in the event of the passage and signature of the bill, Japanese must immediately withdraw her support from the Panama Pacific exposition and deny to Americans the right of ownership in Japan.

At Sarina they would take the Northern Navigation steamer to Fort William and from there travel over the Grand Trunk Pacific to Winnipeg and the west.

MRS. PANKHURST DRINKS WATER-EATS TABLETS

Suffragette Leader Shows No Ill-Effects of Five Days' Confinement

SECRETED TABLETS OF CONCENTRATED FOOD

Will Not Be Present at Great Meeting to Be Held in Albert Hall

London, April 9.—Five days have elapsed since Mrs. Pankhurst entered Holloway jail, which she then declared she intended to leave as soon as possible, alive or dead. She was then, according to her own statement, in bad health. She has consistently refused all food placed before her by the prison authorities, and the current report that she is being forcibly fed is denied on high authority. The removal of her immediate celling has been as thick as the rest of her impending release.

The fact that the situation, as obtained by the Daily Mail from an authoritative source, is that she was found by the doctors on their examination last night to be showing only very slight effects of her five days' lack of nourishment, and that, as far as could be learned, she was likely to be able to endure it for several days in some very stringent conditions are attached.

PROBE TO DOCTORS.

The release of women which she has shown against the prison doctors. It is known that she is drinking water, and instances in which she has been maintained for months at a stretch, without serious discomfort, on a diet of water alone are not infrequent. It is said, however, that Mrs. Pankhurst took into prison concealed in her clothing, tablets of highly concentrated nourishment, which are taken surreptitiously. She was not searched on her admission to prison.

WILL NOT BE AT MEETING.

The members of the Women's Social and Political Union have been hoping that she would be released in time to make her appearance at the great demonstration in Albert hall, which has been planned for Thursday, but, should the authorities find it necessary to let her out of jail by then, it is unlikely that she would be able to participate in the meeting. Reports of her condition are made frequently each day by the prison authorities to the home office, and as Mrs. Pankhurst is in the danger of collapse she will be released on a license to return to her home.

ANTARCTIC CONTINENT LIES FURTHER SOUTH

Dr. Mawson's Expedition Has Proven Wilkes' Chart to Be Incorrect.

Sydney, N.S.W., April 9.—That the Antarctic continent lies much further south than Explorer Wilkes mapped can be proved by the results of the expedition to the Antarctic, led by Dr. Mawson's party. A wireless message received today from Mawson indicates that the members of his party are finally engaged in systematic research work. The expedition, which was sent to the Antarctic by the British government, has been making progress in its work. The expedition was led by Dr. Mawson, and the results of the expedition are being reported to the British government.

WILL NOT INTERFERE TO CALIFORNIA.

Washington, April 9.—President Wilson let it be known today that the federal government would not interfere with pending legislation in California by which aliens who have not declared their intention of becoming naturalized as American citizens are prohibited from owning land or property. He communicated this declaration informally to Representative Baker.

REPLY TO A LADY MADE BY A MEMBER OF THE COMMITTEE.

London, April 9.—A reply to a question in the commons today, made by Mr. Walter Long, is to be given if it was the intention of the government to relax the special defence committee. Mr. Long stated that it was thought undesirable at the present time to widen the scope of the committee dealing with the question of national defence. The suggestion that had been made that the committee should extend to the wider aspects of the national defence would be considered by the cabinet in due time.
